'It's happening now'

Province announces
$5.5M for long-awaited addiction services here

By TIM WIECLAWSKI
Metro Ottawa

Sometime next year, two long-awaited youth residential drug treatment centres will open their doors in Ottawa.

"I know you've waited a long time for a ... facility for youth. I'm here to say, it's happening now," Ontario Premier Dalton McGuinty said yesterday in announcing $5.5 million in addiction services funds — including $2.4 million annually to operate 20 treatment beds at two facilities. The funds will be used to operate two facilities for youth ages 13 to 17: One will be a 15-bed English facility, the other a five-bed francophone facility. The money to buy and retrofit two facilities will come from a $6-million fundraising campaign through the Ottawa United Way.

Ron Caza, a fundraising campaign co-chair, said it falls to Ottawans to contribute to the campaign, to do their bit to reduce drug use identified as a major problem by residents.

"It's going to make this a better community to live in," he said. "This is really going to happen. Now everybody needs to get on board. So if your children or grandchildren ever need

patients
» The facility is expected to be accepting patients "sometime in 2009," said Robert Cushman, CEO of the Champlain health network.

this centre, it's going to be there." Kanata's Meadow Creek facility has been floated as a possible site for the English centre.

Police Chief Vern White said yesterday marked the end of a decades-long pursuit of a youth drug treatment centre for Ottawa.

"Finally, young people will have an option to stay in the city and receive residential drug treatment," he said. "For policing in this city it might be the greatest crime prevention tool and the greatest success story we've ever had."

The remaining $2.6 million will fund street youth outreach, 48 transitional housing beds and funding for an adult detoxification centre.

Mayor Larry O'Brien announced the city would commit $250,000 annually to expand drug prevention and education programs in schools — an amount matched by the province.

"Sixty to 80 per cent of people who try crack for the first time become addicted, so if you can educate them on that danger, you could keep them from even getting into the pipeline of addiction," he said.

Work woes idle two O-Trains

Transit union says crumbling hoist preventing work

By TIM WIECLAWSKI
Metro Ottawa

Two of Ottawa's three O-Trains have been derailed due to maintenance problems, which the city's transit union is calling another case of mismanagement at OC Transpo.

Crumbling cement around a hoist in the train works yard is preventing needed repairs to two trains, meaning riders will see delays as one train is left to service the route every 30 minutes.

Kimberly Weston-Martin, acting manager of Transit Support, said the rail delays were unforeseen, but service should be resolved "within the next few days." However, Amalgamated Transit Union 279 president Andre Cornel-Passengers await the O-Train at Carling station yesterday afternoon. Needed repairs have taken two of the city's three trains off the rails for now and changed the schedule for commuters.

lier predicted it could be months before the trains are repaired.

"They should be getting repairs, but they can't hoist them," said Cornellier. "It looks like it's going to be a long time ... until they get a tender to come in and fix the crumbling cement and the old O-Train building yard."

Cornellier said Train No. 1 has needed repairs to its wheels and transmission for more than a month, and Train No. 3 broke down on Monday.

"They are stuck with Train No. 2. One train — and if that breaks down, they would be unable to fix it," he said.

Until the trains are running again, Weston-Martin said shuttle buses will be filling the gaps in service from Monday to Saturday.

At the train stations, posters informed riders of the schedule change and where to find the shuttles.

"I'm probably going to avoid the train for a while," said Chris McGuire. "At least until I know the schedule is back to normal."

"It's a pain," said Adam Taska. "The O-Train is the one component thing that was always on time and dependable. It's temporary, but it's unfortunate."

Last month, a report by the Amalgamated Transit Union Local 279, entitled A Transit System In Crisis!, blasted the city's commitment to repair the transit fleet.

On June 18, ATU representatives will make a presentation to the city transit committee, urging it to restructure responsibilities for transit under one umbrella to better manage OC Transpo.

Yesterday, the city's O-Train schedule was modified to run south from Bayview Station on the hour and half hour. It will make the return trip north from Greenboro at 15 and 45 minutes past the hour.

City hedging its bets on Plasco plant for time being

By TIM WIECLAWSKI
Metro Ottawa

The city has taken another step toward a large-scale waste-to-energy plant, but it's not yet throwing all its bags into one landfill solution.

A committee yesterday authorized city manager Kent Kirkpatrick to work out a long-term agreement with Plasco Energy Group to supply land and trash for a 400-tonne-per-day plasma gasification facility near the Trail Road landfill, but at the same time to continue exploring other technologies.

"In the interim we're not stopping our evaluation of other alternate technologies that would divert waste from landfills," said Kirkpatrick.

The technology being used by Plasco is so cutting edge that it hasn't yet been proven to handle household waste, said Coun. Diane Holmes, who said it's prudent for Ottawa to "keep doing the research on what other systems are out there."

The technology cleanly converts waste to gas under high-heat, low-oxygen conditions without burning it, and the synthetic gas can then operate engines that add power to the electricity grid.

Plasco would fund the construction of the $125-million facility, but Ottawa would pay up to $8 million per year in tipping fees. The plant still needs approval from the provincial Ministry of the Environment.

Ottawa airport fumes sicken six workers

By TRACEY TONG
Metro Ottawa

The newest section of the Ottawa International Airport temporarily closed for investigation yesterday after paramedics treated six workers for inhalation of fumes.

"Strong odours" were reported at approximately 3:30 a.m. in Phase 2 of the airport, said airport authority spokeswoman Krista Kealey.

Paramedics treated six airport employees for minor to moderate respiratory irritations after responding to a 4:47 a.m. hazardous material call in which workers reported smelling a strange odour, said paramedics spokesman J.P. Trottier.

"It wasn't respiratory distress," he said. "But they felt their upper respiratory tracts were irritated from the fumes. Under those circumstances, it's always a good idea to get checked out."

minor flight delays

» The fumes resulted in two minor delays to flights yesterday. All flights have been moved from the second phase to the first phase of the airport, Kealey said.

Four employees were taken to hospital for further assessment and treatment. Kealey said they were released by late yesterday morning.

Trottier said the fumes are believed to contain carbon monoxide, ammonia and sodium hydroxide, though the source was unknown yesterday.

"We treated patients at the scene and we were under the impression that they had been exposed to the gases, but we don't believe it was a very high amount," he said, adding the gases can be dangerous in large amounts.

The airport has closed off access to Phase 2 while the fire department investigates, Kealey said.

Because of the early hour the incident occurred, Trottier doesn't believe any other people were affected.

Paramedics and the Ottawa fire department remained on the scene for investigation yesterday.

RCMP knew of Couillard

Were familiar with Bernier's ex before affair became public tangled web

Quebec's Public Works Minister Michael Fortier dismissed senior Quebec adviser Bernard Côté yesterday after it emerged Côté had a romantic relationship with Julie Couillard last year.

The Mounties have confirmed they knew about Julie Couillard before her bombshell relationship with Maxime Bernier hit the headlines.

Deputy Commissioner Raf Souccar revealed yesterday that Couillard, who has past ties to biker gangs, was no stranger to the force.

"I am familiar with this matter. I am familiar with Ms. Couillard. However, it would be inappropriate for me to be talking about a specific case," he told the Commons public safety committee.

Asked point-blank whether Couillard was known to the RCMP before she hit the spotlight last August as Bernier's girlfriend, Souccar replied, "Yes, she was."

Bernier lost his cabinet post just over two weeks ago after Couillard revealed to a French-language television news show that he had left sensitive government papers at her house for more than five weeks. The Commons committee yesterday launched hearings into Bernier's security slip. But opposition MPs seemed frustrated when Souccar and assistant commissioner Bob Paulson refused to say whether the force had warned government about any potential problems or whether there's an ongoing probe. Couillard has been invited to testify and may early next week.

Claims disputed ahead of today's official apology

As the prime minister gets set to apologize today for decades of abuse in native residential schools, thousands of former students say they're still owed compensation.

More than 10,000 people have asked for official reviews after they received less cash than claimed or were rejected under a court-monitored program that has paid out $1.3 billion.

About 250 former students, church officials and other guests have been invited to Parliament Hill to witness Stephen Harper's historic statement on behalf of all Canadians. A total of 93,000 applications have been received for payment of $10,000 for the first year spent in the schools, and $3,000 for each subsequent year.

Hillier to become Democracy chair

Retiring general given honorary position

By ROBYN YOUNG
Metro Halifax

Democracy 250 has a brand-new public face: General Rick Hillier.

Former Nova Scotia premier and Democracy 250 co-chair John Hamm announced yesterday Canada's chief of defence staff will be the honorary national chair of the committee.

"When General Hillier speaks, Canadians listen," Hamm told reporters at Province House.

The former premier convinced Hillier, who is retiring as chief of defence in July, to join the team because of his long-standing commitment to democracy in Canada and abroad.

Hillier said he accepted the position for three reasons: Canadian Forces members like himself work toward democracy every day; the Democracy 250 committee has made a point of highlighting the service of the men and women of the Canadian Forces; and finally, he felt the need to give back to Nova Scotia.

"In Canada, sometimes we're complacent about the values and privileges we have," he said.

He said his mission as honorary chair of the committee will be to educate Canadians about the importance of democracy.

Calls mount for Khadr's return

A Commons subcommittee has called on the federal government to immediately seek the return of Guantanamo detainee Omar Khadr for rehabilitation as a child soldier with strict curbs on his freedom if necessary, and for trial in Canada if evidence warrants.

Over stiff opposition from Conservative MPs, the international human rights subcommittee endorsed a report containing seven recommendations that would un-shackle Khadr from U.S. custody, and turn him over to Canadian law enforcement.

It declares a firm belief that Khadr, aged 15 at the time he was wounded and captured in a deadly firefight in Afghanistan, is a child soldier and should not be treated as an adult accused.

The report adds to a growing chorus of calls for the Harper Conservatives to finally weigh in on the American military prosecution of Khadr.

Sudan plane fire kills 28

Airliner bursts into flames after landing

A Sudanese airliner burst into flames after landing in Khartoum overnight in bad weather, killing at least 28 of the 217 people on board, officials said late yesterday. The plane was carrying 203 passengers and 14 crew on a flight from Amman, Jordan.

Khartoum airport's head of medical services, Major-General Mohamed Osman Mahioub, said authorities had so far established there were 123 survivors but 66 people were unaccounted for. The plane's emergency chutes enabled the survivors to escape.

Twenty-eight bodies had been taken to a nearby mortuary, said Mahjoub, adding that some of the 66 people unaccounted for might have survived and left the airport during the confusion after the plane fire broke out last night.

A dust storm and heavy rain had hit the airport yesterday, officials said. REUTERS

Incest daughter wakes from coma

Eldest child in Austrian case left intensive care unit

The eldest daughter from an incestuous relationship between Austrian Josef Fritzl and his daughter who he kept locked in a cellar for 24 years has been revived from an artificial coma, hospital sources said yesterday.

Fritzl kept his daughter Elisabeth locked up in a secret, windowless cellar in the basement of his house, where she gave birth to seven of his children. Three of the children were kept locked in the cellar with their mother.

"The patient Kerstin F. was brought around from her artificial coma and was able to leave the intensive care unit a few days back," the hospital in Amstetten said. "The patient is still in need of intensive medical and therapeutic care."

Doctors put her into an artificial coma after she suffered from cramping fits due to oxygen deficiency and kidney problems and was brought from the prison cellar to hospital by Fritzl.

Cheerleader feels heat

Players constantly jump from team to team as free agents.

But cheerleaders? Asha Tomlinson, 29, may have started something of a trend, at least in the CFL. A former cheerleader for the Toronto Argonauts, Tomlinson is the newest member of the Edmonton Eskimos' cheerleading squad. Interestingly, she also is a reporter and host for Citytv's Breakfast Television in Edmonton.

A five-foot, 125-pounder, Tomlinson is a Toronto native. She admits she's feeling the same type of heat that players do when they bolt.

"My friends in Toronto have a problem with (her cheering for the Eskis)," she said. "They're like, 'What are you doing? Eskimos? Where's your loyalty?' But I'm an Edmontonian now."

Power hitters Magglio Ordonez and Adam Dunn are being dangled by the Detroit Tigers and Cincinnati Reds, respectively. One could join the Boston Red Sox, who may need to replace David Ortiz (wrist injury).

Also, Erik Bedard can be had and the Seattle Mariners are listening to offers for the Ontario-born pitcher. The Philadelphia Phillies have offered a pack of prospects. The Blue Jays have mild interest.

Don't be surprised, incidentally, if Seattle fires manager John McLaren tomorrow.

» Jerry Buss has had a rough go lately.

Not only did his Los Angeles Lakers lose the first two games of the NBA championship series to the underdog Boston Celtics, but the owner also was knocked out of the seven-card-stud world championships in Las Vegas.

» The CFL signed three higher-profile players in the off-season. None stuck.

Receiver Peter Warrick failed a physical and was cut by the Montreal Alouettes, quarterback Chris Leake sprung to the Arena League after signing with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats and receiver David Boston showed up to the Argos with a fractured foot.

Sweden slips past defending champs

Spain striker David Villa suggested that his country could put a 44-year record of under-achievement on the big soccer stage finally behind them when he lit up Day 4 of Euro 2008 yesterday.

Villa, who found the ideal partner in Fernando Torres, grabbed the first hat-trick of the tournament in dispatching Russia 4-1 in Group D in Innsbruck. Cesc Fabregas scored the other Spanish goal.

"I'm very pleased about the way things went, but especially for the three points we've now got under our belts," the 26-year-old striker told reporters.

"We all said it was vital to start with a win and we did just that. I'm also happy for the goals but that's the job I have to do."

Perfect combo

Matrix mixes economy, sport and utility

By B. MCLAUCHLAN
for Metro Ottawa

Toyota used an ultra-hip specialty car show when it debuted its new Matrix five-door to instil it with an instant 'cool' credibility. That move might have come about because the average buyer of the last Matrix was over 50 ... and Toyota wants to skew that demographic more towards the lucrative youth market.

Built in California along side its Pontiac Vibe mechanical twin — and also in Cambridge, Ont. — the Matrix wagon blends the "affordability of a subcompact sedan and functionality of an SUV with the style, image and performance of a sports car."

Wider and lower, this edgy-looking second-generation Matrix shares its engine lineup with its GM cousin, starting with a fuel-conscious 1.8-litre four-cylinder engine producing 132 horsepower. Toyota, however, uses its own variable valve timing system to maximize engine performance and fuel economy.

For those craving a bit more grunt, the Matrix also offers a 158 hp, 2.4-litre 'four'.

Pricewise there's something for every budget, starting at a low-low base price of $15,705 for the base front-wheel-drive model with manual transmission. Standard is a four-speaker AM/FM/CD/MP3 sound system with auxiliary input jack, rear-seat heater ducts and side window defoggers, 60/40-split fold down rear seat, rev counter, outside temp gauge, digital clock, dual vanity mirrors, tilt-telescopic steering wheel, tonneau cover, cargo-area lighting, lots of storage, an engine immobilizer and foldable power-heated side mirrors.

A $2,540 B Package adds air conditioning, keyless entry, power windows and locks, rear bumper protector and a tire pressure monitoring system. The $3,965 Touring Package brings the 'B' items plus 16-inch alloy wheels, cruise control, a rear spoiler, scuff plates and fog lamps. All of which still allows the Matrix to list at under 20 grand with a five-speed manual. The automatic is an additional $1,010.

Moving up the $19,180 Matrix XR, its bigger 2.4-litre engine offers a significant power boost.

A great decision was to bring back the all-wheel-drive Matrix, equipped with the 2.4 engine and only available with the four-speed automatic at $22,330.

It's a base Matrix, plus keyless entry and hatch release, an upgraded lighting system, variable-speed wipers, tire pressure monitoring, power locks and climate control. An all-wheel-drive XR will set you back $24,945 with the Sport package going for $26,855.

At the top of the range is the $25,220 Matrix XRS. Performance differences over the other models include beefier suspension bits and 18-inch wheels.

Any way you look at it, the Matrix is just about all the vehicle you'll ever need and, with its combination of stylish design, good options and aggressive pricing, it's a lot more versatile, sporty and fun-to-drive than similarly priced small sedans.

High-rolling on the high seas

At $55,000 a week, a luxury yacht cruise through British Columbia's Gulf Islands isn't for the fiscally-challenged. The Pacific Yellowfin draws a clientele of high-rollers who don't mind dropping some coin on a pimped-out holiday. Last week members of Pearl Jam chartered the yacht and explored the islands and inlets that stretch 120 km across the Canadian/US border.

A week on this cruise costs more than I make in a year, yet there I was, sipping cocktails on deck like a rock star. This is one of the perks of being a travel writer. It's a job that affords me luxuries I can't afford myself.

The wind in my hair, I embraced first-class living on this two-night, three-day maritime expedition.

Compared to the gleaming fiberglass speedboats docked at the harbour nearby, the Pacific Yellowfin is understated. She is a classic wooden ship, with a history as diverse as Forrest Gump's. Through the years she's been a World War II coastal freighter, a tuna research vessel and a houseboat that accommodated a hippie commune of flower power. She's travelled clandestinely to search for Che Guevara and was involved in the Bay of Pigs.

Today the Pacific Yellowfin is owned by Captain

The Pacific Yellowfin, which has been through World War II and the Bay of Pigs, now carries high-rolling clientele through the Gulf Islands.

Colin Griffinson, an Irishman who renovated and converted it into a luxury charter yacht. A 114-footer that sleeps eight, the Pacific Yellowfin offers gourmet food, specially cooked by an executive chef, day excursions to nearby islands and a lot of toys: jet skis, wakeboards, mountain bikes, water-skis, kayaks, water trampolines, air rifles, fishing gear and 49 cc motor scooters.

For those who dig boats, a trip to the engine room is yacht porn. Chief Engineer Jack Dixon, 71, gave me a tour and ran through the daily mechanics of operating the vessel. He showed me the slow turning engines built in 1939 and the reserve tanks containing 18,000 gallons of diesel. "We could travel to China non-stop," Jack told me in his grisly, sea dog voice.

Instead of making our way to Asia, we anchored at Lyall Harbour, hopped into a smaller motor boat and toured the surrounding inlets. For those who are into wildlife, the Gulf Islands are home to orca whales, harbour seals and Steller sea lions.

I was lucky to see a threesome of sea lions basking their obese slippy bodies on a rocky outcrop. As we approached, the dominant male perked up, waddled around and barked loudly. They were much bigger than I'd imagined, some can even reach weights of 1000 kg.

"Don't make eye contact with them" warned the Captain. Apparently, if they catch you looking at them, they'll slink into the water and disappear. As they tan in the sun, I observed them sneakily.

With this caliber of animal viewing, it's hard to imagine that I was only a 20-minute seaplane flight away from downtown Vancouver. After an indulgent stay, it was pumpkin time. My days of playing Cinderella on the seas were over, and was time to return to my life as a lowly land-dweller.

Summer of the anti-hero

Flawed characters find more room on the big screen

By STEVE GOW
for Metro Ottawa

In the upcoming Incredible Hulk movie, Edward Norton utters a phrase that perhaps best epitomizes the big-screen superhero: "When I lose control, it's very dangerous to be around me."

No kidding! Anyone who unwittingly turns into a rampaging green monster when they're ticked off is definitely somebody I'd rather not sit across from at the euchre table. But, as a superhero, shouldn't we admire The Hulk's feats and noble qualities instead of fear him?

Well, not necessarily. When a character is reluctant, flawed or devoid of the attributes we associate with altruistic heroism, that character is called an anti-hero and there are few better examples than The Hulk. Whereas traditional heroes brave danger for the sake of others, the character of Bruce Banner merely copes with the gamma-radiation accident that reluctantly turned him into a monstrous rage.

While anti-heroes have been prevalent in cinema since the days of pulp fiction (think Sam Spade in The Mal- ttese Falcon), they only continue to increase in popularity. Many critics argue that this advancing popularity is hinged on a cynical recognition that people find naturally-flawed characters more believable.

This summer surely vindicates that notion. In addition to the Incredible Hulk, such movies as Wanted, Hellboy 2, Death Race and even Indiana Jones are relying on the anti-heroic traits of their lead characters to attract audiences.

It began with Iron Man, a superhero whose alter-ego is fraught with human frailties. A loner who drinks, smokes and womanizes; by comparison, he makes Superman look like a Quaker.

Vengeance is often an attribute of anti-heroism. This summer, its best represented with The Dark Knight. Not only does that film feature the vigilante justice of Batman but it introduces an even more dubious anti-hero in Harvey Two-Face (Aaron Eckhart), a district attorney who transforms into a savage killer. Two-Face is the consummate anti-hero in that, being on the side of justice, he only kills the bad dudes — a morally complex question to be sure.

Then there is Will Smith. In his new action-comedy Hancock, he simply plays a hard-drinking superhero that's described as "edgy, conflicted, sarcastic, and misunderstood"; he even seems to get jiggly by threatening little kids.

While these characteristics aren't admirable, we still empathize with anti-heroes because they represent our own flaws and thereby embody the promise that we too can overcome our frailties for the greater good. As for me, well, I'm just relieved my central frailty doesn't happen to be a bad attitude and green skin.

Jesse McCartney takes Departure

Singer works with OneRepublic star on new album

By SANDY CAETANO
for Metro Ottawa

Following the incredible success that Bleeding Love — the smash single from British pop singer Leona Lewis — achieved on international charts, Jesse McCartney is in demand.

McCartney, who collaborated with OneRepublic's Ryan Tedder to write Bleeding Love, says he now has many new writing opportunities to choose from.

McCartney had known about Tedder's writing abilities for a while, and so the pair decided to meet up prior to the release of OneRepublic's radio and ringtone hit Apologize.

McCartney says he was in the studio working with Tedder on material for Departure — McCartney's latest studio album — when they came up with the tune Bleeding Love.

The track didn't make the cut on Departure, so it was temporarily put aside while the album was recorded.

Unlike his previous albums, Departure is just that — an effort to move on to something new and different.

"The last couple of years have been interesting, I feel like I've opened a new chapter ... got my own place now, been single for a year and a half," says McCartney about the basis for his songs. "It's honest, and I feel like the fans appreciate stuff like that ... makes for great songwriting."

Jesse McCartney's latest album, Departure, was released last month.

Fox buys rights to Mosque

REACH FOR THE TOP:

There were high-fives all around at the CBC this week with the announcement that 20th Century Fox Television had bought U.S. rights for an adaptation of Little Mosque On The Prairie. There had, apparently, been interest in the show south of the border for some time before Fox and Westwind Pictures announced the deal at Banff's World Television Festival, and the Canadian producer had been negotiating with Fox before the Hollywood writers' strike forced them to take a temporary break.

According to a Hollywood Reporter story, the deal doesn't preclude the original Canadian version from being aired stateside,

IDIOT BOX
RICK MCGINNIS
rick.mcginis@metronews.ca

and Westwind's Mary Darling, executive producer of the CBC version said that they were pleased with the deal.

"Fox got the creative vision of the show, that it has to be funny while it treads sensitively on certain Muslim issues," Darling told the Hollywood Reporter.

I'm aware that Canadians — and especially Canadian media executives — are programmed to say things like this, but here's where I really start to worry. Treading sensitively might sound like a prudent course for a politician, but it's a sure recipe for bad comedy, and I'd like to hope that whoever ends up making Fox's version of Little Mosque — no writer has been attached to the show, yet — will not tread lightly, around any issues, Muslim, Christian, Buddhist, Jewish, Jain, Hindu or Zoroastrian.

I am not a fan of the CBC show, not because of its subject matter or setting, but because it's simply dire comedy, limp, lifeless, ba-dump-dump comic set-up and delivery that feels dated, and manages to channel the stalest essence of three-camera, laugh-track sitcoms in a single-camera, laugh-track-free setting — an unrewarding sleight-of-hand that Canadian comedy is too fond of replicating.

The best comedy is cruel and irreverent, and Fox, for all its many flaws (Family Guy, I'm looking at you) is aware of this irrevocable comic law. Anyone hoping to make a comedy that "treads sensitively" would have to either be a fool — or a Canadian.

We're a funny people; we're funny, all right, but in all the wrong ways, I'm sorry to say.

Baby girl for Spelling

Tori Spelling and husband Dean McDermott welcomed their second child, a daughter, on Monday, People.com has confirmed. Stella Doreen McDermott was born at 3:13 p.m. in a Los Angeles hospital via C-section. She weighed 6 lbs., 8 oz. and was 19 3/4 inches long, a rep for Spelling says.

The couple also have a 1-year-old son, Liam Aaron. McDermott, 41, has a son, Jack, 9, from a previous marriage.

Spelling, 35, revealed she was expecting a girl in March.

Extreme diet made Hathaway cry

Anne Hathaway had to endure a gruelling diet to slim down for her role in The Devil Wears Prada — insisting she and co-star Emily Blunt would “cry because they were so hungry,” imdb.com reports.

Hathaway plays a journalist who lands her first job on a high profile fashion magazine — and her character is forced to slim down to fit in with her image-obsessed colleagues.

She says, “I was basically stuck with fruit, vegetables and fish. I wouldn’t recommend that. “Emily Blunt and I would clutch at each other and cry because we were so hungry.”

Theron blasts ‘sad’ celebrities

Oscar winner Charlize Theron has blasted celebrities who constantly court media attention — branding their attitude “ugly,” imdb.com reports.

The actress is sick of fame-obsessed stars, insisting she finds it “sad” to see people strive to be paparazzi fodder. She tells Britain’s GQ magazine:

“It comes across as this really sad need for approval. I’ve heard people make comments like, ‘You don’t really want to be in the tabloids but you need to be for your career.’ They believe it’s actually important. It’s not. It’s ugly.”

Bale best dressed

Christian Bale has been named as one of the best dressed men in the world, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The Dark Knight actor has been recognized for his love of sharp suits in a new style list by men’s magazine Esquire. Grammy-award winning U.S. rapper Lupe Fiasco and Cameron Diaz’s rumoured ex-boyfriend, environmentalist David Mayer de Rothschild, also joined Bale in the top 10.

Esquire fashion director Catherine Hayward said: “Powerful men know how to dress themselves and often stick to a uniform. Each of the men in our list has given a teasing twist to traditional tailoring and made the look entirely their own.”

instructions»

The digits 1 through 9 will appear exactly once in each row, each column, and each zone. (A zone is an outlined 3x3 grid within the larger puzzle grid. There are nine of these zones in the puzzle.) Do not enter a digit into a box if it already appears elsewhere in the same 3x3 zone, or in the same row across the puzzle, or column down the puzzle.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES | March 21-April 20

You'll get a lucky strike. Keep your wits about you. Don't give in to unappreciative people's whims.

TAURUS | April 21-May 21

The best way to kill time is to keep busy. Clearing of obstacles improves your state of affairs. Confusion will force you to be gracious.

GEMINI | May 22-June 21

A polite guy will improve your mood. Be respectful with someone who is in love. Someone who is ill requires funds.

CANCER | June 22-July 22

Something ends as something else begins. A friend will find a reason to be cheerful. Do all that you can to make up with a man.

LEO | July 23-Aug. 23

Take a break despite opposition. Don't get involved in a heated discussion. A joker needs to get himself a life.

VIRGO | Aug. 24-Sept. 22

Big news reveals much about someone's dishonesty. Be sincere when asked about a bad character. A relative will become a guest.

LIBRA | Sep. 23-Oct. 23

A skilled person causes surprised laughter. A debate with a lazy person gets sticky. You're vexed over a grievance.

SCORPIO | Oct. 24-Nov. 22

A tough task looms ahead. A spat with a buddy isn't over yet. Motivate others with your enthusiasm.

SAGITTARIUS | Nov. 23-Dec. 21

An amusing visitor will put you in a tacky situation. A tireless friend will fix a problem. Work isn't the place for unusual treats.

CAPRICORN | Dec. 22-Jan. 20

Someone will give in after a standoff. A friend changes your feelings about a love match. Challenge authority with a new attitude.

AQUARIUS | Jan. 21-Feb. 18

A stumbling block becomes a laughing matter. Hopefulness works well for you. Ignore complaints made about a friend.

PISCES | Feb. 19-Mar. 20

A problem clears up when someone goes away. A friend will lend you a helping hand. A squalid home causes concern. AVATAR VENUS
